

Natisa Jones b. 1989

Born in Jakarta, Natisa Jones is a visual artist who works between Bali, Indonesia where she spent most of her childhood growing up – and Amsterdam, Netherlands where she is currently based. Jones completed a Visual Arts diploma studies in Chiang Mai Thailand and a bachelor's degree of Fine Arts Painting in RMIT University - Melbourne, Australia.

Through the process of writing, drawing, painting, and video, Jones establishes a tightly-knit relationship between her personal life and her creative practice. Raised in a multicultural household by a Javanese mother and a Canadian father, Jones pulls narratives from her personal experiences to explore issues within identity and reflect on social dynamics.

Framing moments of vulnerability, while every so often pinching sentiments from popular culture, text is regularly incorporated with imagery. Prompted by her multicultural upbringing, Jones seeks to emphasize the notion of duality as an underlying theme in every aspect of her work.

Natisa has held 3 solo exhibitions in Ruci Gallery (Jakarta), Galeri Salihara (Jakarta) and Tony Raka Gallery, (Bali). Group exhibitions include Indonesia, Thailand, Singapore, Australia, Philippines and more.
